Dear Mr. Jérôme,

Referring to a recent telephone conversation between yourself and my wife, I am pleased to enclose an invitation for our reception of October 1st.

We are grateful that you consider to exhibit some of your works in our offices even though the exposure to the public will be time wise very limited. When you are visiting you will see that the painting we purchased is prominently displayed and we are delighted to have additional paintings from you for the above-mentioned purpose.

It is, of course, understood that our bank assumes the responsibility towards packaging, transportation, security and insurance.

With my thanks and best regards,
